

millinery with heart,

body and soul expression spoiled by the self-consciousness of trying to hold together so many

court is that of the archduchess Marie Josepha, wife of Duke Otho. She has just had them set in a new and massive design by the court jeweler.

A stomacher we give as illustration. The large emeralds are so arranged that they can be detached and other colored stones clasped in the same settings; thus the archduchess has rubies, sapphire, pink topaz anad immense diamonds of the same size, so she may change to suit her toilets. Also all the sprays can be taken to pieces and worn as smaller ornaments or massed together in different designs. This fashion was introduced by the Empress Elizabeth, who delighted in such combination and would cover the whole front of a court garment with complex design. Such may be done with a modern artistic design if made by a special jeweler, and is convenient to those who may only possess a few pieces. Thus a girdle may separate into brooch.

Comedie Francaise whose favorite color is sky

blue, which she clasps with a girdle of emeralds

so valuable that a big policeman never loses sight of her when wearing it on the stage or off. This appreciation of the charm of related blue and green and violet is comparatively new to us.

though always known to the orient and to an-

Emeralds are usually cut in simpler form than diamonds and the corundum, or ruby, family of gems. The table cut, square or oblong, with large, flat face and beveled edges, the lower surface in long, narrow facets. Their value depends upon the tone, transparency and especially in the western world the flawlessness of the gem, which,

if of dark velvet depth may even be worth more than the diamond, though the price put upon all

expensive gems by the leading American jewelers is entirely fictitious. The "flawless emerald"

has become a classic comparison for perfection,

as nearly every stone is full of little rifts or clouds or discolorations that make it unfit for the split superlatives of modern taste; to the oriental mind nothing is more beautiful than beauty;

each stone is but a note of color in a general

harmony and the eastern jeweler has no prejudice against "flaws" or "off colors" and finds worthy and dignified place for manay a gem that our beautiful arm next to me. Heavy links of bright polished gold, carrying with little relation five great cabochon emeralds, divided by four large quoises or viclet-beryls or olivines or peacock opals, their great value would have sufficed to pay for some real art work in enamel or design.

Then the emeralds themselves were so "perfectly matched" they might as well have been bits of glass. So equal in tone all mysterious magic gone-no thought of Druid forenead or impris-

If the diamonds had been replaced with tur-

At a recent dinner I noted the chain on a jewel butchers would incontinently cast off.

diamonds, soldered on to them.

There is a vaporous blonde actress at the pendant, cloak clasp, necklace, at will.

The most splendid regalia at the Viennese unrelated parts.

to the leaves and, like the sapphire, is best by day and shrinks from artificial light. Consecrated to the month of May, it is said to symbolize the charity that springs from a well of goodness n the heart and its cotor, nature's favorite, to speak of hope and new spiritual birth.

No other gem holds as many fascinating legands or haunting historical memories; they go back to immemorial time when the Incas worshiped the goddess Esmerelda in the person of a stone as big as an ostrich egg and offered other emeralds to consert with it, so that the Spanards were able to seize the votive treasures of enturies. The five emeralds which Cortez stole from the crown of Montezuma were of enormous size, rough-cut in the form of sacred symbols of sex worship. Even Cortez was so enamored of them that he refused to sell them to the empress and so lost favor at court.

There is still preserved at Rome the emerald sen: to the pope by Peru after the Catholic conquest of that country and the name "Emerald Isle," given to Ireland, was from a magnificent ring sent by Pope Adrian to Henry II. when he took dominion over it

The orientals have always known how to handle this wongerful crystal, setting in peacocktoned embroidery of enamel, keeping its irregularities of ferm, perhaps simply smoothing the edges so as to preserve as much color as possible. Indian princes often wear emerald rings fully two inches across. In the shrine of the great Tooth temple of Kandy, Ceylon, there is a Buddha of fabulcus value carved from a single gem. I have seen in the treasury of the sultan of Turkey whole robes encrusted with emeralds, with superb single stones of the purest water set in the bandles of scimitars. There were prayers n the interior of the Taj Mahal spelled in emeraids before the British soldiers dug them out with their knives,

We read of Nero viewing the games "men played with death, where death must win" through emerald eyelids. Caligula's consort icaned from the verd-antique balconies of the golden hill adorned with two millions of our doltars' worth of emeralds and pearls.

Napoleon were through some of his bloodiest patties the great emerald torn from the throat of harlemagne when they dared to disturb his slumber and to this talisman the Man of Destiny iscribed his power to sleep at will and as long or little as he would. When Isabey was to paint the last portrait of Josephine, she said; "Paint are in emeralds to say that my sorrow will be ever green, but surround them with diamonds to portray the undying purity of my love."

Of course royal people hold the finest examples of this gem, which, in conjunction with pearls, they prefer to all others. Queen Isabella was very proud of her carved emeralds, but carvng destroys the greatest beauty of the stone, the perfect limpidity of its color. An Italian princess possesses the most famous parure in Europe, ennancing her patrician beauty as she stands against the faded green tapestries, the ormolu and malachite of her Roman palace-a never-tobe-forgotten picture.

value of its tone in relation to other tones. Sometimes a touch of enamel, or chrysoprase or turquoise does as well. If you can attain to its glory. it is a great privilege to wear it with other things that show your right to such beauty, but not simply in display, as if bidding for the prize of a gem show.

LONDON'S OLD ROMAN WALL

Visitors to London whose tastes lie in the direction of exploring ancient remains will be gratified to learn that the Society of Antiquaries has succeeded in securing the preservation of a very fine fragment of the great Roman wall around London, which has just been laid bare, a London letter to the New York Sun says. From time to time portions of the great structure, the external wall of defense built about the city in the fourth or fifth century, have been uncovered in digging foundations while rebuilding streets or houses. These have rarely escaped demolition. The latest discovery is to be preserved for the benefit of

It is situated near Newgate street, close to a new annex of the general postoffice. The fragment, which is that of a great curved bastion, is 50 feet long, 20 feet high and 8 feet wide. The present summit lies several feet below the surface of the ground. The whole is in a wonderful state of preservation.

The material is that known as "Kentish rag." supported by heavy Roman bricks and showing clearly the characteristic layers or bands of red tiles, such as may be seen at Burgh castle, Pevensey and Richborough. The interesting relic is to be built around, so that it will lie in a cave which may be entered by stairs and inspected by artificial light. The line of the great Roman wall is well known and much of it undoubtedly remains below the houses to-day, which are largely built upon it as upon the securest of foundations.

POLE FAKER OF LONG AGO

It is told of a titled Englishman that when his son explained his folly in going down a coal mine by saying that he spoiled his clothes so as to be able to say that he had performed the feat, replied: "Why did you say that you had been down the mine and did not go?" This method appears to have been followed by one James Knox de Bolduc, a monk, who, according to a Paris contemporary, says the Army and Navy Journal, made his polar voyage in 1665. This is the pole as described by this Bolduc:

"At the pole one finds the place where all the waves of the sea concentrate to disappear in the same whirlpool. Four great islands surround this precipice, separated by four great canals, succeeding which are the divided seas. An enormous rock, quite black, and 23 miles in circumference, marks the pole itself. "The unfortunate ships which venture into these latitudes are immediately lost, if they are Connecticut." one finds an interest- ering bride to her warm fireside, but not assisted by favorable winds." The Civil and Military Gazette of Labore, In. of a bride in 1785, Mrs. Joseph Gay of sharp faced good-wife ushered in dia, suggests that the account of Bolduc may be oned spring-right from the factory these looked found in the "Teutsche Acta Eruditorium" (1712). day following her marriage in a peach- "You sit there, and you there, and brown ore is taken from the earth to of output which ma'tes Richmond ONLY IRON MINE IN STATE smelt about 200 tons of pig iron mining profitable.—Boston Globe.

Hint to Amateur Carpenters. of this Richmond mine, the only iron | A nail driven into oak or other ::m-

How Love Came to Harriet

Harriet threw her books on the couch and said in a tone of disgust: "Everything is so different this year, and horrid-" Mazie looked up languidly. "What's the matter?"

Harriet sat down on the foot of the couch. "Well, last year all the girls were just jolly and simple and natural. ty, I mean—the girls have to be in the and now they've all come back in love. | dormitory every night." Four of them engaged, and the restmooning."

Mazie laughed. "Well, they are old enough, aren't they?" she demanded. you."

"This is their senior year." "Yes, they are old enough," Harriet admitted, "but I don't see why they wanted to tie themselves up, and now they can't talk of anything but romance and roses, and they are always writing letters. Even you, Mazie, when I begin to talk on sensible subjects, your eyes get dreamy, and before I know it you are asking me if I don't like blue-eyed men better than brown-eyed ones." Mazie blushed. "You'll know how it is yourself some day, Harriet." "If I do," said Harriet, flercely, "no one will know a thing about it. I'll keep it to myself, and not go around not." looking like a dying calf."

Mazie's laughter rippled. "You couldn't hide it, Harry-no woman "Well, you see," Harriet said, "but I'm not going to fall in love-I'm going to stick strictly to books and let boys "Of course," said Mazie, demurely.

"I wish you joy, Harriet." They studied in silence for awhile, then Harriet said, "I am going for a walk-want to go, Mazie?"

Mazie's eyes twinkled. "I've got a letter to write, Harriet." "To Bob?" Harriet demanded.

"But you wrote to him yesterday." "Why not?"

"Oh, you are hopeless," said Har riet, and flung herself out of the room On the way downstairs she met four dreamy maidens, each of whom re fused her invitation to walk, and Harriet laughed and joked and teased, but when at last she was out on the snowy path her eyes were full of tears. It was not easy to make new friends. and last year she had had such close companionship.

up, cheeks red, trying to walk off the into my life. You are so straightforblues that oppressed her. And because her head was up she

And there a plodding old farmer, with his plodding team, four i her, a half hour later, half frozen in the middle of the road. "I called and called," Harriet said, five she wrote a note. At seven, as "and I couldn't make anybody hear." "There wasn't anybody to hear," said the old man. "I was on my way upon her. "Harriet," Mazie said, re-this way-"If you could take me to the-" Harriet began, as she tried to stand up, and then, before she could finish her sentence, she fainted dead away.

rubbed his stubby chin. Then he loaded her into the wagon like a sack you were in love." of meal, and never stopped driving only doctor in the town.

When Harriet opened her eyes. some one was saying: "It's a pretty for some time."

By TEMPLE BAILEY

(Copyright, 1909 by Associated Literary Press.)

Harriet's eyes came open with

"I've got to get with decision. The doctor laughed-a mellow laugh that Harriet liked. "You are going to stay here for ten "But they won't allow it-the facul-

"I telephoned up to the college," the doctor said, "and they are going to send one of the teachers to stay with

He had a way with him that seemed to settle things, and Harriet found herself acquiescing meekly. "Well, I'm glad it's one of the teachers you sent for," she remarked, "and not one of the girls."

"Why?"

"Because the girls are all in love. it's a perfect epidemic. If you had a cure for hearts you could get a good practice up there in the dormitory." "They wouldn't employ me," his amused glance met her. "They don't want to be cured." "Well, they are silly." Harriet said "No," he contradicted, "they are

She looked up quickly. "But they are so young-and there's so much in life besides love."

"There is nothing in life," he told her gravely, "but love-love of one's fellow men, love of God, the love of family, of friends, and, greatest of all, the love of the lover for the woman who shares his life."

Harriet was thrilled by the way he said it. His wife must be a happy woman she thought.

She said as much to Miss Flick, the little English teacher, when they had been in the doctor's home for over a week. "How happy his wife must be." For Dr. Redmond was one of the men who, in a selfish world, forgot it out here, I want to know what a case himself and lived only for the poor of 1 or 2 dozen packages will cost and day he toiled, glorying in his op freight.

busy to give himself for others. Harriet thought of the boys she had known-nice fellows, but occupied with having a good time. She decided that if she ever married she would choose a man like the doctor.

portunities, never too tired nor toc

She wondered what kind of woman his wife might be, and complained to Miss Flick. "The doctor's wife hasn't been in to see once."

"My dear." Miss Flick exclaimed. 'he isn't married." "But the maid spoke of Mrs. Rec-"That was his mother who was over for the day." "Oh," said Harriet. Of course, everybody knows what happened. Harriet fell in love with

Dr. Redmond. "But no one shall ever guess," she resolved, bravely. But that night as she lay on the couch in the living room, with Miss Flick downstairs, eating her dinner the doctor came in. "Better, little girl?" he asked. "Yes," Harriet's tone was subdued. He sat down beside the couch.

You'll be well enough to go back to-morrow," he said, "and I know you want to get at your studies." Studies! Harriet had forgotten that such things as books existed

"Oh, yes, of course," she stammered He gazed into the fire, his grave eyes intent on the dancing flames. "I shall miss you-" he said at last.

Harriet caught her breath. "It has been nice to be here." I might say to you all that's in my throat." heart," he said. "I'm such a lonely She went down the Lake road, head old fellow, and you fit in somehow-ward and sweet-and dear-Harriet." And then he asked her to marry slipped on an icy stretch of ground, him, and Harriet, man-hating Harriet, twisted her ankle and fell in a forlorn said "Yes." "But you mustn't tell any one," she warned him, "not a soul shall know until spring.

She went back to school the next day, arriving at three o'clock. And af she sat studying with Mazie, she caught the eyes of her roommate fixed to the mill, but they ain't many goes proachfully, "I don't believe you know a word in that book-it's upside down."

And Harriet blushed. Mazie came and sat down on the stool at her friend's feet. "And you "Hum," said the old man, and are different, somehow," she went on; "if it was anybody else, I should say

And then Harriet confessed, unexuntil he had reached the office of the pectedly, "I am. And, oh, Mazie, he is the dearest thing."

And Mazie, having kissed her, tri umphantly remarked: "I told you, Har bad sprain; she'll have to stay here riet-I told you you would be like any other girl when love really came."

Odd Custom of The Past

Ceremony of "Appearing Out" Was lowing year, met a somewhat forbid One Much Venerated in Connecticut.

ing description of the "appearing out" she was scarcely seated there when a colored silk, most fauntily made, and you there," she promptly ordered; "and hat and headdress trimmed with the you, young woman, may sit back; your marvelous quantity of 16 yards of fine clothes will keep you warm."white ribbon; and her husband walked Youth's Companion. by her side in small clothes of white broadcloth.

According to the custom, they took As early as 1820, iron of high grade mine now being worked in Massa- ber oftentimes bends or breaks. To their place in the middle seat of the had been smelted from "strikes" in chusetts, where only 42 per cent of avoid this all is needed is a little wax front gallery, and some time in the Before the days when tidewater the Berkshires. At Richmond, with a the ore is metallic iron, while the or soap. The nail, if greased with course of the service deliberately rose transportation and the nearness of fur- great wooden water wheel to furnish ores taken from the great mines oper- either of these will go straight into for inspection, turning slowly round haces to natural gas and coal mines, power, the furnace which has lasted ated along Lake Superior average the board. Carpenters who do finish and standing in different positions so talking to me. She wants a larger entered into the profitable production the longest was established in 1829. from 60 to 65 per cent. Of course like ing work bore a small hole in the that the whole effect of their costumes and more intelligent audience."

tonic River valleys and across the is still being worked, and enough achusetts, it is the superior quality the nails into it as they use them. Hutchins, who "appeared out" the fol- fected.-Lowell.

ding reception. The meeting house was cold and the light wedding dress unfitted for the season. The minister's In the "History of Windham County, wife, after the service, invited the shiv-

Expansion.

"So your wife is a suffragette?" "Yes," answered Mr. Meekton. "Why does she want to vote?"

"I don't think Henrietta really desires to vote. She's merely tired of Earth's noblest thing, a woman per

WORTH KNOWING

Simple But Powerful Prescription for Sheumatiam and Lame Back.

This was previously published here and cured hundreds, "Get one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound and one ounce Toris Compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put the other two ingredients into it. Use a tablespoonful of this mixture before each meal and at bed time. Shake the bottle each time." Good effects are felt the first day. Any druggist has these ingredients on hand or will quickly get them from his wholesale house.

DESERT MELODY.

"I can sing," said one Toucan, "you bet," "I, too, can," said one that he met. "So if I can, and you can, We two can, we Toucans."

So the two Toucans sang a duet.

When Tempus Didn't Fugit. Little Helen, during the three years of her life, had never been separated from her elder sister night or day for more than a few minutes at a time. but at last the time came when the sister went away for a whole day. The child tried every game and occupation that she knew of, and a new one or two suggested by her mother, but they all palled.

Finally she gave up and stood and locked sadly out of the window. Then she sighed deeply and said:

"It's still the same old day, isn't it, mother?"-Woman's Home Companion.

THIS TELLS THE STORY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2, 1910. 1427 West 28th St. Uncle Sam's Breakfast Food Co.,

Omaha, Neb. My mother has used your food for over one year, and it has done her so much good that she feels she can't get along without it and as no one has souls who depended upon him. Night | me, F. O. B. Omaha or Los Angeles. by

> J. L. WOODSON. We certify that the above letter is a true copy of the original and was not solicited. U. S. BF. F. CO. Why She Needed More Nights Off.

Having recently engaged an 18-year-old colored girl to do housework, a

New York woman was adjusting the various questions of privileges. "You will have Monday and Thursday nights off. Eliza," the mistress of the house said. 'On'y Monday 'n' Thursday nights!" the other exclaimed, rolling her eyes. "My Lawd, Mis' Blank, dat won't do nohow; dat ain't enough. You see, ma'am, I's a debbytante."

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreamed disease that science her been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Ca..arrh. Hali's Catarrh Cure is the only positive Ca...rrh. Hali's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to sure. Send for list of testimonials

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO. Toledo, O. Sold by all Drugrists. Ec.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constination. A Joit to Romance.

"How about the young doctor? Has he proposed?" "Not yet. Papa ruined everything last night." "How was that?" "Just as the doctor was pleading for a peep at my eyes, papa came in and He turned to her suddenly. "I wish asked him to take a look at my

Important to Mothers. Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it Bears the Signature of Chalff Held In Use For Over 30 Years. The Kind You Have Always Bought.

There is nothing that makes men rich and strong, but that which they carry with them. Wealth is of the heart, not of the hand .- Milton. "Pink Eye" in Enidemie.

Attacks the Eyes in the apringtime. Is Contagious and Calls for Immediate Acion. Murine Eye Remedy Affords Reli-able Relief. It Soothes. Apply Murine Freely and Frequently. Doesn't Smart. Bear your own burdens first, after ple.-George Washington. TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets, Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. Mc.

that help to carry those of other peo-

Some men go to their graves with out discovering that they were not as important as they thought they were. PERRY DAVIS PAINSILLER

A crab-eating monkey in Siam swims like a fish.

DIVIDENDS FROM THE START CALIFORNIA ALFALFA FIELDS GUAR-ANTEE INCOME on your EUGALY PTUS IN-VESTMENT—the only safeguard against the com-ing hardwood famine. An investment with the least risk and certainty of the GREATEST PROFITS Bank TRUSTEESHIP secures your money, and insures safety fr m failure at any time. Buy our Planted Acreage on Easy Terms and have an assured income for life. Write for information,

THE CALIMEX PLANTATION CO. Los Angeles,

That at Richmond, Mass., Is the Last | Taghconic hills in the towns of Rich-

of Many That Once Were Flourishing.

of pig iron there was a string of iron To-day, after continuous operation Berkshire papers and other wares handle of their hammers and then might be exhibited. mines along the Hocsac and Housa- for eighty years, the Richmond mine made in the westernmost part of Mass- fill it with either wax or soap, running The young bride of Dr. Pennel mond and West Stockbridge.

weekly.

There is a reason for the operation